

Innovation & Technology

In Australian Joinery Manufacturing

Build it and they will come.

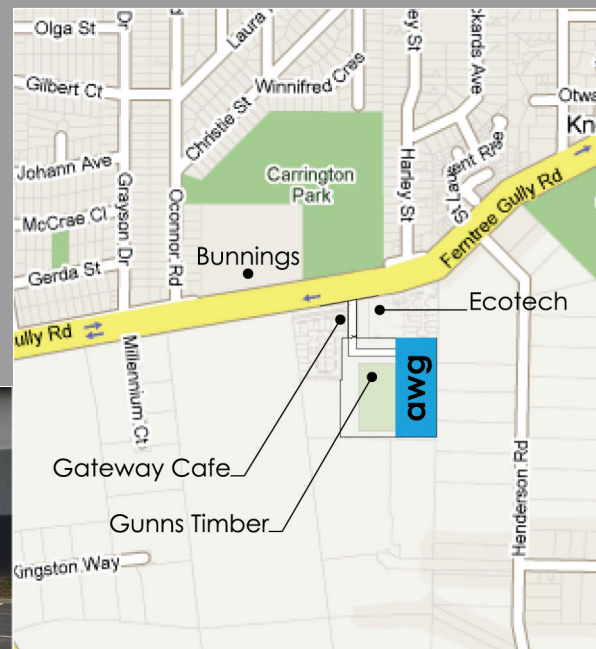

Join AWG Australia and the Victorian ASOFIA executive for a trade night
Wednesday May 18th at 6.30 pm.

With a focus on providing joinery solutions to the trade AWG Australia MD, Andrew Wickham, together with his team will provide an insight into the vision behind what is arguably the most advanced Shopfitting and Kitchen joinery manufacturing facility in Australia.

You will also hear from selected industry partners whose products and services form an integral part of the overall AWG system and contribute to the technological theme for the evening.

The night will culminate in a tour of the recently completed, state of the art manufacturing facility. You can expect to see a great example of the results that can be achieved by combining a lean manufacturing process with German engineering excellence and years of AWG integrated systems development.

Snacks and light refreshments will be provided.
